10th November, Tuesday

¹ I had a good day at school today. The English lesson was fun and meaningful. Miss Lee asked us to share with each other what we could do on our own when we were little. When I got home, I talked to Mum about it. We looked at a lot of photographs.

² When I was two, I could put my toys into the toy box by myself after I played with them. I could also walk upstairs by myself. Although I stumbled a little bit, I managed to walk up to my bedroom without Mum's help. I could put the diapers into the bin by myself too.

³ Look! I could eat with a spoon by myself without making a big mess.

⁴ When I was six, I went to the same school as my sister, Ann. She is three years older than me. She could tie her hair up by herself and also iron her own dress. Ann sometimes helped Mum do the groceries and go to the wet market by herself. She taught me to do a lot of things. When I was eight, Ann and I could cook a meal for our family by ourselves.

Miss Lee was very surprised when we told her what we can do by ourselves now. She said she remembers my classmates, John and Kelvin, from Primary 1. They couldn't tie their shoelaces by themselves. Miss Lee said, 'Time flies! You are all big boys and girls now. You can do many things by yourselves.' Yes, time flies! I will be a secondary school student in two years' time.

Goodnight, Diary!
